Headline. 4. NNW, MALA, SOU, VEN, SVN.Last week, at CinemaCon, in Las Vegas, Warner Bros. officially announced a new Batman franchise, and a new release date, into theaters for 2021. The superhero was joined by Batmobile, Batwing and a very new character in Bruce Wayne's life. He is Oracle, played by actress and author of the new Joker origin film, Joaquin Phoenix. The star-studded set of images shared on the Warner Bros.' social media accounts along with some words shared on their official website also hinted that Batman might be growing up. Also, The Batman logo was seen on both of their accounts: In a news release from the studio, Batman's first solo film will be directed by The Joker's screenwriter, Todd Phillips and it will star the character portrayed by actor and comedian, Jared Leto, who will make his return to the Bat-vault as the man who called himself "The Joker." The film will go into production this summer. It was released last year under the title of Joker. Like the previous one, the new release date is a lot closer to the actual Batman's birthday, coming on June 25, 2021. According to the Warner Bros. press release, "The new film will be an origin story that delves into the mystery of what makes the Dark Knight a man who sees the good in others while embracing the end of his own childhood. We've got an exciting story to tell, an incredible team, and a Batman who's never been more the man." In October last year, the teaser trailer for Joker's official release was released, and it has now been viewed over 600 million times on platforms like YouTube. The movie is based on the brilliant mind of its writer-producer, Todd Phillips, who worked on the script as a co-writer on the 2006 movie, The Hangover. The film was directed by Phillips, and the movie got highly positive response and acclaim. Especially the performance by his co-star, Joaquin Phoenix, was praised by critics. He played the role of the infamous clown murderer, and went on to say, "I thought I was gonna die." The role earned him an Academy Award for Best Actor, was nominated for Best Supporting Actor, and it is the only film in which he has ever won a
