"We thought that it would be interesting to offer our customers the flexibility to build out their environments with SSDs exclusively," says Digital Ocean founder and CTO Joe Webb. "The new VPS plans are ideal for those looking for a performance edge. For example, if you're building a site with a lot of database writes, having an SSD can make a big difference." The SSD-only plans cost $10 more per month than their standard counterparts, though. They're available for the new Core1 and Core2 series, and include either 64GB or 128GB of SSD storage, and either 3 or 5GB of RAM, with options for either Ubuntu 14.04 or 14.10. Webb says the company is still considering bringing SSD-only VPS plans to existing series, such as the small and the large. The new plans start at

$5.75 per month, with the Core1 plan coming in at $7.50, the Core2 plan at $9.75 and the Core2+ plan at $14.75. Digital Ocean says the plans will be available in its US-East, US-West, Europe and Asia regions at launch. All new plans, including the SSD-only ones, will come with 1TB of data transfer for one year, while existing plans will carry over existing transfer quotas 77a5ca646e
